Death by Knife 2's all-new "all-new gameplay" revolves around creative ways to commit suicide, the most common being seppuku. It was only after reading your untimely demise you realize you must have your own style of suicide, and thus a lot of S-K-U-P-P-U-C-K. Cooking: To save the Finnigans from starvation in their sleepy Fun Park town, you must learn to cook. Otherwise, they will surely starve to death and you can tell your friend Dave about that, because you can't. All they can do is run around and stuff. Sonic Youth: Seems like these Finnigans are heavy Sonic Youth fans. The many references make the game what it is and the song you hear in the background is "Sonic Youth" by Sonic Youth. You can try it yourself by hitting escape and going to the pause menu to listen. You may also want to click the "listen" button at the top of the screen when you are in a game and try that. It's fun! Whiplash: The announcer from Whiplash gets your back, right after he tells you about all the changes to the game. "You are allowed to face your fears and play to your strengths," says Dave, like that's a good thing. "Why can't we use any old deck of cards instead?" says Todd, the youngest Finnigan. "We're scared of the new card game that we downloaded. All our friends said we were crazy not to try it, but we are still scared of the new Virtual Reality we downloaded." Just like the other Finnigans, Todd has convinced himself that all that VR means is that he can have a new, out of the box experience. You can show him the forums and explain to him that in fact, it is far more likely that he will die when he plays the new card game. He will also die when he plays the new deck of cards, though to a lesser extent, but that doesn't matter, you'll do your best to help him. Of course, you will be dead too, but at least you didn't play the new card game. That's what matters. "All our friends said we were crazy not to try it," Todd said. "What about the new game where you pretend to be a kitchen and clean up after people?" asks Todd. "I'm not doing that
