In this series we'll look at how to turn your individual circumstances into expert advice. In the first episode, we start with looking at some of the trends that are shaping the world of investing and how they're changing the way we think about investing. What trends are shaping the world of investing? The industry is diversifying and emerging markets are becoming more important. This means that there's a shift from the 'safe' economies that have historically been the mainstay of your investment portfolio. It also means that the process of investing becomes more and more complex. At some point, your portfolio manager will be asking you to look at diversification and complex exposures. How do you become an expert to ensure you are well prepared for them? I want to do my best for myself, but I need expert advice. The first thing you need to remember is that there's a huge amount of information available online. However, how do you know which sources to trust and which sources are worth paying attention to? You want to be able to access, analyse and understand the information and make sense of it. The first step is to become an expert in the world of investing. There's a huge amount of information available online. However, how do you know which sources to trust and which sources are worth paying attention to? Socially responsible investment, or socially responsible financial investment, or sustainable investment, but we can't
